

CHRONICLE N°3

Prisoners of walls, prisoners of the past ?

“Denial is worse than a hurtful truth.” Sand and Jenaël

In this chronicle, we propose to recount a surprising adventure which grandly taught us about the existence of the worlds of beyond and their unquestionable influence in our reality.

Our objective not being to incriminate anyone, but to learn even more about the worlds which circle us, out of consideration for the concerned people, we have given them borrowed names and surnames. Their allocated pseudonyms are obviously part of the clue system. We will also try to be the most objective possible.

Understanding, learning and sharing our experiences, is that not the reason why we are incarnated down below ? Everything is lesson !

As far as we are concerned, the outcome of this story only revealed itself recently. It narrates what can happen when deceased people who haunt the walls of a house, try through any means necessary to transmit a message to their family, but these last ones, refuting the nature of the worlds of beyond, refuse to take it into account.

We had found a rental property in a small locality in the Corbières mountains. Settled in approximately for a year and a half, in the small three rooms of a village house, more and more signs being indicators indicated us that something was not running smoothly, neither in the municipality, nor in our house. Nothing but the name of the “Albières” municipality which, in gosling language means “all in beer”, already said enough about what was coming next.

From the first days, we were called out in our minds by a stretcher from bygone days stored on the church’s forecourt, which strangely looked like those which were used to evacuate dead people during epidemics. We were also surprised by the number of people who were in a bad way or handicapped who wandered in the village.

Let us stop for a moment over the definition of the “all in beer” (“mise en bière” - “lay out corpse in coffin”) expression :

Beer (“bière”) is a word which comes from old french and therefore from latin, “bera” which means stretcher. History brings us back to the grand plague epidemics during which the bodies of the dead people were driven on carts or stretchers in order to be burnt on the pyre or thrown in the mass grave. It was after said about “lay out corpse in coffin” (“mise en bière”) when a body was left on a funeral stage intended to support the coffin, then “beer” (“bière”) ended up to name the coffin. [...] The layout of a corpse in a coffin (“mise en bière”) therefore corresponds to the moment where the body of the deceased person is installed in the coffin.

Were they therefore clues of the past history of the municipality or of those of its future ? Knowing that History repeats itself into loops, this makes us think...

We had barely arrived, that some neighbors warned us to beware of one another. Rumors circulated claiming that old grand families were in conflict for generations. Even the mayor, in his annual address, had done state of quarrels between land owners.

Whilst leaving Cassaignes, the village of our ancient residence, we did not ignore that new incidents were awaiting for us, but we were far from imagining what we were going to discover. Especially as this time, other LEOs, in quest of drilling the mysteries of our world were also getting ready to settle themselves in the village.

A few days after the great floods which happened in the Aude region, it still did not stop raining around here. In the morning of our first night, what was not the surprise of discovering a great puddle of water at the entrance of our house which had apparently infiltrated itself through the walls’ foundations.

The following weeks, a mice army emptied the kitchen and the cupboards. Then it was the turn of the blood red longhorn beetle to surround the place. The water pipes blocked themselves regularly making the sink unusable and generating bad smells. However the most difficult to live was that at every strong attack of rain, water also flowed through the walls of the ground floor, partially submerging the kitchen's tiles, and making the rain periods quite uncomfortable to live with.

To cap it all, the house was equipped with a wood stove which, yet recently swept, produced much too much soot which, humid, became a smelling bistre, making the place unbreathable nearly after every blaze. Sometimes also, dish noises, cracks, persistent tobacco smells, seemed to reveal presences. These annoyances persisted to the stage where one day, we had to warn our neighbors about it, the parents of Loïc, our land owner, as this latter did not live in the region. By the way we had called upon them in the first place, as we often exchanged about misunderstood or strange phenomenons which themselves had already been witnessed or interested in.

Although they worked on doing their best in order to block our runs of bad luck, it was no use ! Something very strange was really happening in that house.

A few times later, by a new night of rain, we were woken up in jolts by an unusual racket, comparable to the one that produces gravel unloaded from the dumpster of a lorry. We noted the next day, that a part of the old roof adjacent to ours, had collapsed itself. Margi and Damien, our neighbors living in the same building, despite the racket, had not heard anything.

The parents of our land owner, living behind the house, also had not noticed anything. However they warned their other son Martin, a businessman in buildings and land owner of Margi and Damien's housing, that it had to be repaired. Finding a solution in order for the house to be able to be sheltered from the rain once again, therefore became a family matter. And indeed, family matter, there was ! The paper chase which little by little, unveiled itself, will soon confirm it.

In order to understand it, we first had to follow the track and mark the signs. We also had to notice that nearly all of the LEOs, just like if they had been guided by an extraordinary fate, had found where to stay in houses of the village, all belonging to ancestors of this same family : the Soot-Standing family. The one in which we lived was the one where Mathilda, the mother of our land owner, was born in.

Other clue which at first sight did not have any link with our history, but which at its outcome came to brighten this paper chase, was that since this soot/bistre lashed in the chimney's pipe, Jenaël curiously suffered and quite regularly of lively aches of the colon.

For most people, these events would not have had any meaning. However as we are receptive to our environment, to our senses and that we have learnt to widen our perspectives, in order to let new circumstances happen, these events put end-to-end, formed for us a reading's grating which was going to overtake the ordinary rational human's understanding. As all these clues, rising from serendipity, could have stayed a guess if Edmond had not insisted by wanting to manifest himself ! Especially as from time to time, he was accompanied by a little girl who sometimes appeared furtively in the door's framing.

<https://www.reseauleo.com/serendipite-et-personnalite-des-personnes-qui-attirent-des-decouvertes-precieuses/>

Therefore, who was Edmond ?

Edmond was Mathilda's uncle, who had died a month of may in the 90's. Honored by his family, but feared by others, he had taken with him a secret in his trip towards beyond the worlds ! And there was obviously a problem here, as if Edmond did not manage to reveal what was weighing over him, he unfortunately could not find peace. As this secret, once revealed, had to offer the possibility to free the generations to come of the Soot-Standing family, as well as other families of the village !

Knowing this and not having been able to join the worlds of 5th density where the soul rests itself, because of what he knew and should have revealed in order to accomplish his recapitulation's process and soul's liberation, he had to find the way to communicate it to his descendants.

We now know through experience - as it is an essential section of our work within the LEO Network - that family secrets are often linked to events psychologically traumatizing which, recorded in the soul's genetical memory, oblige the descendants of these families to play again the stories which finally are not their owns, but of which they are carriers. They therefore reincarnate themselves in multiple karmic temporal loops, in order to try to resolve the knot of the trauma henceforth inscribed in their genetic and the one of their descendants.

This type of secret, generally deeply buried in the person's subconscious which could unknot it, makes things in the way that she drives it back, hides it even to the stage of protecting it. To be precise, Mathilda was that person !

Under a thick fortification of guilt, she hid a mystery which her own self could not imagine. Nevertheless knowing herself as a holder of an unconscious hidden truth which also concerned certain families of the village, she tried hard to stay convivial with her surroundings and her new neighbors. However obviously, she was incapable of understanding the stakes of this concealment. Maybe she even already sensed that "her" tenants risked to develop certain talents to unknot them, as from this point they lived in Edmond's house !

It is quite obvious, that since his death, this latter having still not found initiated tenants to understand the worlds known as invisible, he could only give an infuriating life back to them. From this point, we learnt that for different reasons, the previous occupiers had only stayed for a very short period of time in these two houses which were at the start a family building, thereafter divided into two housings.

However this time, “fate” made it possible that this happens ! Edmond and the small girl could finally demonstrate their presence to individuals having certain knowledge of the worlds of beyond and who were not afraid of them.

Edmond’s manifestations intensified themselves from the moment that the roof collapsed itself ! Because in order to deal with the most pressing issues and to contribute to the urgent reparations, all of us, the residents of Edmond’s house, offered our builders’ talents.

Yet it was to know that we never accepted to work the material aspect of things, without understanding the deep reason and to seize lesson from it. And obviously, for every LEO who respects himself, here once again, it was the case !

Magic happened ! Everything put itself into place in order for us to be able to start the repairs. In a few days, we cleared out the ruins, evacuated beams, tiles and gravels, whereas Martin, maybe being a bit overtaken by the suddenness and the turn of the events, did what remained in his hands in order to repair the fastest. However, the “fastest way”, is certainly not an inscribed value in the “genes’ ethical LEO code” ! The “fastest way” does not mean in no way “in full consciousness of things”. The regular readers of the LEO Network, of the dialogues or the Angel’s notebooks, know very well what this is about.

Although the biggest part of the works was produced quickly, Edmond manifested himself louder and louder in the two houses.

One evening, following an unstoppable rain, the water flooded again all over the ground floor. By sponging the water with entire buckets, Sand started to be submerged by a feeling of anger towards Jenaël, just like if she was making him responsible for the situation, as something in his behavior annoyed her deeply. He seemed apathetic and unconcerned facing these events, whereas Sand had the feeling that something was going to happen.

We already suspected that the water which was flooding the kitchen was going to make memories reappear suddenly, but we were far from imagining the repercussions. Let us say once again that water is a transducer of memories which, like at the time where we lived above the Templars’ well at the bottom of the Bezu’s castle, had made it possible for us to find our memories again from the Cathar and Templar’s inquisition period.

<https://bienvenussurlanouvelleterre.jimdofree.com/notre-histoire/5-l-appel-du-pays-cathare/>

Furthermore, many times that day, human shapes appeared furtively in our housing or sometimes crossed the road. Alarmed by all of these curious phenomenons, Sand went to see Margi and Damien in order to know if everything was going alright in their house. Barely having she crossed the door, that the silhouette of a small girl unveiled herself twice in the entrance hall ! In their house also, these strange phenomenons were suddenly taking some breath.

Did something or someone want to attract our attention ? Especially as soaking up all this abundant water, brought Sand to think that these signs suggested that she was going to have to take into consideration emotional memories freed by the flood which, according to all credibility, were not hers.

Other clues of these transdimensional games which had warned her : the 9:11 hour was displaying itself on the clock, and then at many minutes of interval 21:11 (911) was displaying itself again, however this time on the alarm clock, then appeared the reversed mirror hour 21:12 ! Was someone on the “other side” calling for help ? This 911, an emergency call number, strongly echoed in Sand’s memories, as she had lived in the United-States.

Another spot in this clue system is that at the moment where she asked for some help to her Superior Self, she received a publicity email of a website called “Cieléo : solution around water, specialist of water filtration and savings”.

Sand was struggling with this “something” that she saw was arriving. Not being able to define clearly what these insistent circumstances were showing her, she found herself in the incapacity of explaining the reason for her interior agitation.

Later on, in the middle of the night, she got up to go to the bathroom toilet. While she was coming back in the bedroom, she distinguished clearly in the darkness, two silhouettes sitting on the bed in the process of discussing together. One of them was the one of a man of a certain age, whereas the second one was, at her greatest stupefaction, the one of Jenaël ! However, his body was well rolled out in the bed, as he seemed to be sleeping deeply !

Exceeded and exhausted by the misunderstanding of all these “paranormal manifestations” which we perceived since a certain while already, Sand threw herself under the covers by cursing these entities desperately unable to speak who, above all, gave her the impression of a plot behind her back !

Therefore, what had schemed itself this night in question ? We would only know it much later on...

It is only in the early morning that Sand discovered that her gift of empathy was playing tricks at her ! And as within our “tribe”, we already had the habit of carrying roles which makes us adopt certain singular behaviors (which obviously are not proper to us), we noticed that by letting us penetrate by these emotions (coming from an information in relation with whatever situation), they gave us the opportunity of expressing them in order to be able to go through them, most likely in order to resolve the reversed causality loops in the human’s subconscious.

Intuitively, Sand understood the reason for her struggle in relationship with the events of the day before, finally accepting that this part which was fighting inside of herself, came from the informational field and did not concern her directly. Of course, these emotional information were coming to her, in order for her to be able to detect the game at the origin of her own dizzy spell.

This is how progressively, we realized that thanks to this empathy capacity, Sand was with no doubt connected to Mathilda’s subconscious who this latter, stayed animated by the denial of herself and the rejection of her own bubble of reality. In the same way that Sand noticed that she was not really herself, she was able to realize that Jenaël was probably also invested by the energy of Edmond. In short, the circumstances let us predict that even though Mathilda definitely sensed that there was something to discover, she quite simply did not want to hear it coming from Edmond.

In the morning, Mathilda’s husband came to fetch some news. It is then that Sand, leading the enquiry, saw herself being confirmed that Edmond had well lived in our house before his death, which supported our perception - sense. Therefore was it him who was trying to make himself be heard ?

Sensing that something was being woven in the family of this latter, we had offered them to talk about it in order to unknot this mystery. As we know that by putting our information together, we could be brought to make capital discoveries. As much as at several times, our discussions had already been offering a wealth of learning opportunities and constructiveness regarding all of this. However the moment in question having happened, they all shined by their absence !

Although we had needed not far from seven hours the day before in order to manage to unblock, repair the evacuations of the sink and pull a part of the dividing wall up, the fact remained that the family were showing us that she preferred however to stay “blocked” in order to not receive the information !

Whereas Edmond’s soul call made itself more and more pressing, we were tired of having to deal with the resistance of the family ego, which refused to hear the information.

Their oppressive silence generated uneasiness and an inability to understand in all of the group, as all of the members of their family seemed to prefer to stay in their denial, ignorance and rejection of the message that the soul of Edmond was offering to them through us.

Now that the truth is not hidden anymore, people hide themselves from the truth

It is also through this experience that we have been able to go deeper into the understanding about the difference between a real call of the soul and a semblance of curiosity coming from others.

Even though the family soul had asked for some help, the ego avoided them to perceive this call and therefore, the one from their deceased parent. We have finally understood that it is because we are connected to our own soul, “our Self”, that we have developed the gift of hearing the call of someone else’s soul, having a physical body or not. The communications between souls necessarily going through the frequencies of 5th density.

While bringing a symbolic approach and therefore underlining that nothing happened because of fate, Damien and Margi had also tried to have a word with Martin, in order to warn him about the oddities which were happening in their house. However here again, like the three monkeys, he preferred to not know, nor see, or hear anything.

Souvent les gens ne veulent pas voir, entendre et parler de la vérité parce qu'ils ne veulent pas que leurs illusions soient détruites.

Nietzsche

Often people do not want to see, hear nor talk about the truth because they don't want their illusions to be destroyed.

Therefore, in order to not make too many waves and to put an end to our material annoyances, the owners were mostly preoccupied to move forward with the repairs, instead of trying to understand. And here, Edmond did not agree ! And it is because we had not been able to free ourselves from the message that he was trying to transmit, that it was not possible for us anymore to go back to the construction site in order to continue to do as if nothing had happened. Which well obviously, made the atmosphere extremely heavy and tensed.

The so feared moment arrived, when we were going to inform Martin that it was not possible for us anymore to continue the repairs of the roof, since he and his family were closed to receive the information which concerned them.

It is at that moment that Edmond suddenly revealed his “existence” ! Because Jenaël carried himself away in a violent anger which quite clearly, was not his ! By ordering Martin to come down off the scaffolding in order to get things straight, this latter, probably very surprised by this sudden mood turnaround, objected to doing so and took a lot of time to execute himself. Which gave “Jenaël/Edmond”, the time to find Mathilda. Grabbing her by the reverse of the shoulder pads of her vest, he berated, commanding her to reveal what she knew, because “he was going to die from it” !

We learnt after that Jenaël was really screaming of pain, subject to awful sufferings during all of the time that Edmond had invested his body. Let us remember that Edmond was deceased of a cancer of the colon, surprise surprise, at the same period of a month of may.

Mathilda too, not being ready for such a reaction coming from Jenaël, took fright. Obviously, those who witnessed the scene and who knew the passive of the family in the village and the story which was happening in our houses, immediately understood that Jenaël was not Jenaël anymore ! The entity of Edmond had taken possession of his body and visibly, wanted to “express himself” in order to transmit his message to whom it may concern.

Sand was the first to notice it, as trying to reason Jenaël, this latter fixed her right into the eyes, screaming at her : “I am not Jenaël ! I am Edmond !”

This time, it could not be clearer than that, Jenaël was not Jenaël !

Was he lost ? Had he cracked up ? Obviously not ! Because as soon as Margi and Eli had accompanied him back to this home, Jenaël came back to him and the spirit entity “Edmond” abandoned his body. He slept all of the afternoon in order to recuperate from this soul transfer and of his pains at the colon.

However the story did not stop here. In a state of shock, Mathilda shut herself away, whereas Martin and his brother, our landowners, thereafter warned us to never talk to them again about Edmond and to once and for all take distances with their family !

It is in this way that we were able to free ourselves from the heavy karmic programming which linked us to them. Breaking this karmic link, therefore authorized us to follow our own path and to not worry about theirs anymore.

We quickly understood, that as long as we were “inhabited” by the roles of Mathilda and Edmond, we were gone to help their family to repair the real estate properties left by their ancestors and maybe even much more ! Karmic repair which had been delegated to us, as the Soot-Standing family refuting the existence of the hyperdimensional worlds, was manifestly incapable of taking charge of it.

We have realized that Edmond had chosen to transmit to us his information, because not only our group was skillful for its talents of builders, but also for its metaphysical skills which have to do with mediumship !

This experience was obviously not free, as Mathilda had to be shaken in order to create a breach in the armor of her energetic bodies. And it is because we had accepted to assume these difficult roles with the Soot-Standing family and that we had carried out the karmic work of which we were in charge, that indeed, Mathilda learnt a very short period of time after, the existence of heavy family secrets.

We have therefore decided to relate a summary of this story of soul transfer, because in these particular moments of end of cycle, many people become ignorant victims of situations sometimes similar with their neighborhood or their family, and do not always understand the meaning of it, but also to underline the essential difference between the manifestation of a soul to the Service to Others and the one of the stubbornness of the ego to the Service of the Self.

In the end, we also know that Edmond could have probably been able to inform us about the karmic history of the village, in order for it to stop repeating itself. Indeed, in terms of karmic loads, the village stays clearly very touched. We have perceived it while realizing the poor health of its population.

Probably also as connected to the future of his family and of his descendants, Edmond could have warned them, in order for them to learn how to change their own future ! We understood it through other synchronicities which we have not related.

However in 1348, as most of the towns of the south of France, Albières was devastated by the black plague brought, just like at the moment, through cometary viruses. Probably during this period of History, many Albièrois died and were thrown away in mass graves, carried along on stretchers, just like the one parked under the porch of the church.

We are arriving at the end of times and the same type of drama risks to happen again for the Albièrois who have not learned lesson from History, their story ! The Covid-19, as we have already highlighted it, would only be a precursor sign from a new historical epidemic which this time, would be well and truly real.

Therefore, amongst these villagers on the whole being very ordinary, few seem capable of opening their mind to the unthinkable, to the unimaginable. As their Cartesian minds of average individuals, seem to want to stay reduced in beliefs which would oblige them to play again perpetually the same games. And this will probably be the case !

Following these quite singular events, we have questioned our Self of the future, in order to have some brightening in relation with what we have lived with Edmond and his family.

Question to the Angel :

How is it possible that Jenaël let himself taken by surprise by a transdimensional attack in this way ?

Think again, Jenaël did not let himself be taken by surprise ! He was willing to at a very deep level of his soul. Which means that at a superior level of reality, it is about an arrangement between him and the entity-consciousness of Edmond, disembodied of the plan of 3rd density.

In order to succeed his recapitulation process and try to deliver important information which would free him from his soul contract with his family, Edmond had requested the soul-spirit of Jenaël in order to “borrow” him his body temporarily. By expressing himself in this way through the body of Jenaël, he freed himself in a sort of way from his soul contract, this even if his family did not want to hear what he had to transmit to them.

Sand had therefore indeed perceived the soul of Edmond negotiating on the bed with the one of Jenaël, while the body of this latter - the prolongation of the soul in 3rd physical density -, was deeply sleeping.

And why Jenaël ?

Being aware of certain rules proper to the reality of other worlds, he did not have any guilt to let his body fill momentarily the function of an organic portal, in order for the “Edmond entity-consciousness” be able to express himself and follow his journey towards the place of rest of the soul.

It must also be known that during his incarnation, Edmond was interested by the search of the alchemical knowledge, and had sometimes participated in secret, to the summer camps of Déodat Roché. (It is like this that we understood - through the clues of the S.O.S call and the Cieleo mail - that it was probably about a LEO soul which was asking us for help.)

And it is this search of Knowledge which brought you closer to the Edmond entity-consciousness. As it is through your penchant for searchers of knowledge and observatory of synchronicities, that it “understood” how to manifest itself in order to deliver its message.

Jenaël has therefore accepted this soul transfer, in order for Edmond to be able to manage to shake the fortification of denial and guilt of the “Soot-Standing” family. And even if she has refused to take knowledge of the secret which Edmond could have revealed to her, this latter will have succeeded not only to manifest his presence, then to break the Cartesian beliefs of this family of ordinary minds, but also to “free” itself of their respective emotional attachment in order to continue his trip towards other worlds.

Question to the Angel :

Why was Sand, put to a test in this way ?

All of you, everyone in his own way, are affected by the progression of the density change. We have already explained that the viral cometary epidemic hidden by the Covid-19 name, has been a providential accelerator of the evolution process of the soul.

As the reinitialization process to its original frequency has begun, your gifts or capacities start to develop themselves again, this thanks to the supply of new genetic series carried by these cometary viruses. This process which supports and considerably reinforces your capacities of soul metamorphosis, has barely started !

Just like all the other candidates to the 4th STO density, your work group prepares itself to gain back its legitimate and original faculties of the individual soul, which for the consciousnesses still plugged on the STS mode, can sometimes reveal itself to be very disconcerting.

One of these natural gifts is the capacity of becoming empath again : a natural faculty of the soul which only the real humans, like the first tribes, had been able to preserve.

Being empathic is a gift which sometimes can be carried like a burden, as it is not easy to feel in permanence the emotions which surround you. This soul capacity does not have any limits, as it feels as well the frequencies of resonance of the human beings as the ones of animals, but also those of entities present in the atmosphere of a room.

In order to manage to regulate this emotional flow, you have to learn to separate emotions from others, from yours. Taking them on you, but not for you ! This means learning to let yourselves get penetrated by this information (even if they are uncomfortable), without taking them personally.

This separation reflex is normally gained since birth, but then disappears through the “programming” process. It is therefore a question of cultivating it along the years, in order to live this mediumship gift serenely. However the one who forgets this reflex linked to the capacity of the original soul, lives it badly, as he will always have the impression to stay in a guilt feeling. This is why gaining knowledge of this phenomenon, preserves yourselves from a too invasive emotional flow.

Question to the Angel :

By gathering the pieces of a puzzle which had been given to us to assemble, our hypothesis of a child or of an illegitimate filiation in the Soot-Standing family, was it founded ?

It is probably about a problem of that type of order and there is more than this. However in order to not interfere in their free-will and as the concerned individuals did not want to accept to receive the information of the Edmond entity-consciousness, you have to stop here !

Question to the Angel :

Why could Edmond not simply confine himself to influencing the psyche of someone of his family in order to manifest himself ?

He has already tried to do it with a person to whom he was close and who had this advanced capacity coming from the superior worlds. However as this latter was psychologically hurt, therefore not strong enough and balanced physically, and since his biological relatives stayed desperately deaf and blind to these “signs”, this person, sometimes surrounded by the energy consciousness of Edmond, has been diagnosed schizophrenic, locked up in psychiatry and quite simply, stopped to express herself because of the medication.

You should also know that the interference of the soul of Edmond lived by Jenaël, had nothing to do with schizophrenia or whatever psychiatric illness, as these “supposedly advanced sciences of the spirit”, make willingly references to archaic and absurd systems of beliefs.

In this case, it is well about an intervention planned at superior levels of reality, plans of which psychiatry and sciences reject fundamentally the evidence and which in a certain measure are domains in which the ordinary human avoids to adventure himself in.

You have just experimented a squash up with the plans of the soul, of the invisible, of the unexpressed, in other words the domains of the spirit. This experience, which could seem unacceptable by a narrow spirit, has however considerably reinforced your tribal unity.

However this “initiation” has also moved aside those who were not yet ready to cross it. This background has therefore been in some sort of way your first group initiation which has had quite happy consequences in the superior worlds.

What is down below is just like what is up above ! This truth being reversible, those who are meant to meet their future Self, will even more be tooled in order to find their skills of planners and temporal travelers again.

This experience with Edmond, realized with the intention to do somebody a favor, while demonstrating selflessness, greatly influences the morphogenetic field and demonstrates that consciousness is a factor which can affect events of an even bigger scale.

Even if the circumstances had been quite surprising, had Edmond not asked you to give him some help ?

“The initiation” which has been offered to you, can be considered like a spiritual or tribal shamanic capacity which, if it is correctly understood, put into practice and assumed by mature and conscious spirits, is certainly capable of accomplishing miracles. Starting with reshuffling certain programmes in 3rd density, programmes which consequently, already influence your current reality. You can therefore consider the tribulations which you have just gone through, like a learning process proposed by your Self/superior teacher of the Service to Others.

Therefore, do not believe that these souls exchange between Edmond and Jenaël were a “misstep” of this latter. As the time passed during this learning process, has considerably reinforced your capacities of metamorphosis of the soul, in order that slowly but surely, they can “reboot” themselves to its original frequency in order to gain its sovereign and legitimate faculties back again.

Your current incarnation greatly blights your souls, as they prepare themselves from now on to federate communities in 4th density.

Therefore do not waste your dissociation faculties with pointless illusions, as the process which you are starting at the moment, will progressively bring you to your healing and will bring you to meet yourselves in the future !

Question to the Angel :

We talked before about Jenaël who, being aware of certain “rules”, had no guilt to make function of an organic portal for Edmond. Is he unscathed of this programme or is it about a capacity which is proper to him ?

Guilt would be linked to the belief that he is responsible for a mistake committed ! But Jenaël has full consciousness that he is not responsible for the actions committed by Edmond, as the part of him which had stayed present all along this experience of soul transfer, did not let Edmond overstep the limits.

Furthermore, the possibility to temporarily leave the place to another soul in order for her to be able to fulfill a mission or any objective, is an “advanced psychological capacity” belonging to beings of 4th density.

This is how thanks to his selflessness - the non intention of controlling anything - and as he has not anticipated which way things were going to end, Jenaël has gathered some strength of the soul. This strength, which represents in some sort of way, the tendency to provoke events or circumstances which can orientate, even modify the flows of existence, is comparable to the forces of gravitation. And given the fact that he had never anticipated the outcome of his experience with Edmond, he has notably reinforced the determination of his soul and amplified his frequency of vibratory resonance.

Therefore you have to understand that as soon as “anticipation” comes into play, the “intention” is not of the Service to Others (STO) anymore, but becomes again a Service to the Self (STS). Anticipating, which in this case returns to desiring for its own self, cancels in a sort of way the “natural and spontaneous” laws of gravitation, in other words the magic of the soul !

This is why all project or event whatever it is, if it is not mastered, organized or planned through “anticipation”, but simply by the energy of intention, succeeds ! As it is the affirmed intention, supported in a repeated way, which makes it possible to gain this strength of the soul, especially when it is amplified with the group effect.

Question to the Angel :

Edmond manifestly needed to “hear” from the mouth of each and one of the members of his family, a clear formulation of the refusal of knowing the mystery which concerned them all. Is there a precise reason for this “need of hearing this clear formulation of refusal” ?

In order to answer this question, it must first be understood what represents the soul from a metaphysical point of view.

The human body which is the densified prolongation of the soul, is of a stabilized physical nature in 3rd density. On the contrary of the body in the superior densities, in which the physical variability comes into play, and where the soul can decide of the appearance and the size of its body, according to the place and the circumstances in which its consciousness manifests itself.

On these superior plans, bodies can therefore change shape and the “physical reality” is not limited to one and only frequency of expression or of reading. However this physical reality becomes the expression of multiple readings, precisely because the consciousness is not limited by the brain and the human senses depending of one and only body like in 3rd density.

Therefore it is for this reason that those who can distinguish the soul when it is not incarnated in a density, “simply” see the appearance of a cloud of particles, which more or less takes the contours - “the geometrical pattern” - of the body of 3rd density that it inhabits or that it has just left. As a consequence the soul transports, the memories (physical and psychological) under the form of vibration inside of these particles which compose it, in order to be freed and expressed also under the form of vibrations when the circumstances make it possible.

The consciousness unity which composes the Edmond entity, has therefore found the way to free the memories contained in his neutrinos, not only by penetrating the psyche of Jenaël, but also by melting himself into his physical geometry.

About this, an extract of a session with the Cassiopeans on the 27th of May 2000 :

<https://cassiopaea.org/forum/threads/seance-du-27-mai-2000.48944/>

Q : (L) Concerning these neutrinos and the composition of the soul, how are memories formed, stored or structured with these neutrinos ?

R : Contained inside in order to be freed when and if it is appropriated.

Q : (L) Memories are contained in the neutrinos ?

R : In some sort of way.

Q : (L) Are they contained in patterns formed by the neutrinos ?

R : Closer.

Q : (L) Therefore, this means that if a “consciousness unit” or a soul has more memories or experiences than another consciousness unit, it would have more neutrinos ?

R : No.

Q : (B) Different patterns ?

R : No.

Q : (L) What is the difference ?

R : More data by every unit, in some sort of way.

Q : (L) Does this mean that an individual neutrino can be, in itself, more “dense” in data so to speak ?

R : So to speak.

Q : (L) This increased density of data, does it modify the nature or the function of the individual neutrino ?

R : Maybe it changes the function of the consciousness, therefore of the environment.

Q : (L) Is there a specific number of neutrinos which constitute a consciousness or a soul unit ?

R : The number is not exactly the right concept. The orientation is closer.

Q : (L) What are the options of orientation ?

R : Frequency of vibratory resonance.

Q : (L) The frequencies of vibratory resonance do they increase or do they reduce with the density of the data ?

R : Changing : it is better to not measure.

Q : (A) We talk about the soul. What density does the soul represent, in the concept ?

R : Ark, are neutrinos linked to the concept of a bridge towards the pure energy in a certain way ?

Q : (A) Yes. I was going in that direction. I was asking myself why you were talking about neutrinos and not about photons, as the photons are also a bridge towards the pure energy, I would say. The difference between photons and neutrinos, it is that the photons are bosons and neutrinos are fermions. Neutrinos must dance in order to not touch each other. Bosons are just like pairs of neutrinos and of photons, because the bosons are free to move themselves in space just like they desire.

R : We would like to mention the photons in the setting of this discussion, but for the tendency of some readers of the web pages to make a bad interpretation of the fantastic “love and light”... [we do not do it.]

Q : (L) Well, the “fantastic light” was a danse at the corner of the century, which brings back to the remark on “dance”. (A) Are neutrinos the fundamental constituent elements of everything ? The most fundamental particle, so to speak ?

R : More like a median point with a spherical extensibility towards the interior. Tetrahedron, pentagon, hexagon.

Question to the Angel :

Our experiences about the magic of the soul are quite phenomenal. As for the ECOLEO project, we had “preferred” the terms and conditions of its refurbishment and we are stunned by the works' progress. Would we be on the way of its realization ?

If the anticipation does not come to “distort the mechanism”, the realization arises !
The refurbishment of the ECOLEO is already “finished” in 4th density, however the building does not exactly look like what you are still building in 3rd density. Or at least, not to what you had imagined for the original project.

This way of perceiving or to apprehend things (this means to renovate the building with no plan nor precise project), comes from consciousnesses orientated towards the Service to Others. However, your way of proceeding remains fundamentally inconceivable and illogical for an STS mind, which can only plan, anticipate, choose, control, project, calculate, check, manage, but never ever, let the magic of “gravitation” take action !

In order to see this magic work, therefore you need not only to have learnt how to have an intention without waiting for any result, but you also have to think if the objective is to serve your fellow. As anticipation and planning are processes with a "personal aim", therefore to the Service of the Self.

The desire of serving others and to do something which will help others, certainly leads to its realization. As this realization will not happen anymore in a world of 3rd STS density, however it will realize this time in “the new world” of 4th STO density !

To summarize, in 3rd STS density, the one who wants to realize something must anticipate, manage, plan, check..., which also means that in 3rd density realization demands to anticipate.

Whereas in 4th density, realization arises from the magic of the soul (guided by the future Self) and bases itself on a mental exercise of selflessness and of convictions balanced by a pure faith and exempted of all control or prejudice.

In other words, in order to orientate your being towards the Service to Others, it is first of all about being fully satisfied of what is in the present moment, to appreciate it as such, by having faith in the universe and in the fact that everything will happen like it has to be. This without feeding the least expectation on the way of how this will happen, or what the future will be.

Question to the Angel :

Even if we do not know the takings and endings of the restoration of the ECOLEO, should we modify in a way our intentions of the beginning, given the fact that we are converting a very unusual location bound for the future humanity ?

You all already the ones that you will be tomorrow, and you are those of the future humanity. However as you already know that you are learning to become master of your present Self and student of your future Self, you will remain “apprentices experiencers” of this neo-reality in 4th density. You will discover lots of new concepts to understand, to learn, to experience, then to share and to teach.

You also know it, major cyclic events which still have to happen, will be unstoppable ! Nor you, nor any other extraterrestrial or human race, whatever its technological level, will be able to change something about it. However thanks to your “spiritual resonance”, you will already learn how to soften certain effects.

Many things remain under the control of non human or human entities coming from the future, however the clock is ticking. The organized and planned conflicts by the STS corpus which have added themselves to the global chaos, will soon stop for you, thanks to the games of resonances.

Illnesses and pandemics still possible, them also being planned, will be able to be handled if you continue to function through tribal units and continue together to put Knowledge into practice.

Our current recommendations are not different from those which have been transmitted to you since these last years, but we place them from now on in a context where the stakes are even more important than what is commonly recognized by most of the Knowledge search groups.

As on a superior level, despite your spiritual or intellectual divergences, it is possible to collaborate and work in network in order to reunify your strengths and capacities, in case the future of the human race would still be compromised by certain unpredictable cosmic conditions !

This also means, that on an individual level, even more efforts are possible. You have already found safe places in order to be able to follow your mission to the service of the human. However the populations must continue to be informed in order to be able to “bear” with more courage the next storms of great breadth, as well as other extreme climatic and cosmic disruptions coming everywhere in the world.

However there exists a metaphysical approach of these catastrophes, which consist in using your thoughts and behaviors in order to change of temporal line and to be precise, to soften their impact, as consciousness is a factor which can affect the reality at the even moment where it draws itself.

This factor is the famous morphic resonance (morphogenetic or information field of consciousness) which influences gravitation. This morphogenetic field is however not the only domain which can be influenced through consciousness. There exists others layers in this field which are located “before and after” its direct influence and which are principally responsible for everything you name psychological and paranormal, and outside the limits of your fundamental human science.

These “para-layers” therefore locate themselves before and after the layers of the morphogenetic field, in other words in the plasma “states” of matter. Your psychological influence therefore integrates itself actively in these para-layers through your active thoughts.

This being said, the principal layer which constitutes the one of your sphere of morphic resonance, is subdued to the strength of the direct or objective thinking. However thanks to the strength of “non direct” thinking (intention with no anticipation, the preference, imagination...), consciousness can contribute to modify the different plasma stages in order to change reality of the morphogenetic field and therefore the flow of the events. We will come back on these notions of “pre and post morphogenetic zones” later on.

You can already consider that thanks to the strength of that type of thoughts - which “pre make” or “image in” -, certain patterns and manifestation plans which should realize themselves on the original temporal line, can be diverted or blocked.

These fields of morphic resonances are as much invisible and unfathomable than powerful and influent, and can always modify the current reality of humanity, in order for certain events firmly planned by the STS corpus of 4th density, do not happen.

It is also about understanding that these fields of morphic resonances also influence the disembodied plans. If the disembodied beings are more easily connected to the pre and post morphic plasma fields, like in their lifetime, they are also through the consciousness of their spirit.

However, the practice of a living language is absolutely not necessary in order to decode the field of morphogenetic resonances. Nevertheless, the incarnated individual has to be able to have a total trust in his intuitive thoughts, in order to manage to read it.

Finally, you will have probably understood that it is through his own frequency of resonance, vibrating through this consciousness field, that the Edmond spirit-soul-entity managed to make you understand his request.

The times of change have arrived, as the global consciousness of humanity (in other words a huge morphogenetic field) increases progressively. However, seeing the circumstances and because of the incessant incursions of the STS corpus in the pre and post morphogenetic plasma layers of your reality, this great field sometimes sees its growth slow down, sometimes accelerating itself.

Therefore the true question would be : to what speed go these changes in your 3rd density ?

Each living species on earth (or on other planets) create morphogenetic fields, mind forms based on the accumulated experiences which can have a return effect on the behaviors, the attitudes and capacities of the other members of the same species.

Nevertheless, certain “extraterrestrial” species have become masters in manipulation of plasma layers of matter. That is the case of certain insectoid Grey species who are capable of selecting in these plasma fields certain potentials of reality, in order for them to be materialized by the thoughts of certain humans.

This is how, in your world of 3rd density, these morphogenetic fields influence those who meet the same situations at the same time or at different times, according to the reality that they inhabit. And it is through the manipulation of pre-morphic plasma zones that can be inserted programmes causing solid illusions in the minds of individuals.

The ice age has struck humanity, however certain regions closer to the reality of 4th density, are quite preserved. This is due to the fact that, just like the example of groups of individuals like yours for the human specie, each specie creates potentials of reality under the form of morphogenetic fields which, based on mind forms and on the memory of accumulated experiences “more conscious and more elevated”, can have an effect on reality, on the behaviors and the faculties of all the members of the same specie.

Therefore, the interest of networking makes that the individuals joining or participating to these networks, can more or less deliberately create morphogenetic fields influencing other individuals by distorting (more or less unconsciously for the moment still), the pre and post plasma zones, until starting from a small group of individuals, a critical mass of considering and lucid spirits, is formed.

It is mainly these plasma zones which can be modeled through the concept of preferring : “intention with no anticipation”. This exercise of selflessness and of conviction therefore has to be balanced by a pure faith and exempted of all control or prejudice. And the only way of obtaining this sustained effort, would be that the strong and optimistic intentions of each and one of you, be added to the concept of an effort to the Service to Others or of a beneficial result for humanity. And just like for every spiritual and mental gymnastics, your work must be intense and real. Therefore it is absolutely not about staying passive or to pretend by waiting that change arrives !

It is not the galactic beings or the beings of light which will cause the change on your planet. But it will be the work, the perseverance and the global consciousness of human beings which will engage it. You therefore have to manage to become an actor of your own change by learning to put into practice this law of preference for a beneficial result for humanity. As what most people have not understood, it is that they want the world to change, but they do not want to change anything in their own world ! That is for this reason that it is important that more and more people be awakened to the objective reality of your world, which is also your mission.

Deciding to give an other meaning to your life, is the best way that can use a small group of individuals, strongly and positively concentrated like yours, in order to contribute to extend a morphogenetic neo-field and change of world.
